Digital coins have captured the attention of the general public, with the current boom in the Bitcoin market, which has reached unprecedented valuations. Originally started with Bitcoin in 2008, there are currently hundreds of cryptocurrencies being traded on private exchanges internationally, including India.

The buzz around cryptocurrencies have recently gained impetus from Indian trading platforms pumping in big scale money in advertising to attract users. This triggers questions to a curious mind like:

what is crypto?
Is it a bubble?

Should the common man jump into crypto currency trading?

The aim of this lecture is to find answers to these questions and gain an insight into the crypto-world.
